

hood ran to the rescue of the detainees, whaling right and left, with their nightsticks and dispersed the would-be rescuers, while the detectives took their prisoners to the Myrtle Avenue station.

For the first time since the strike began six days ago service was resumed across the Brooklyn Bridge and the Williamsburg Bridge, after the general congestion of traffic which has blocked the bridges up to now. On the Williamsburg Bridge the service was complete and the cars were jammed with passengers.

In the heart of Brooklyn it looked as if conditions were normal, and each car was filled as it proceeded towards its destination.

"What's the matter?" asked a passenger of the conductor, who was an old timer of the B. R. T., on a Seventh and Flatbush Avenue car, "is the strike settled?"

"Not yet, but it will be before Saturday night," was the answer. At strike headquarters it was said that President W. D. Mahon of the Amalgamated was not yet on his way to New York, that he had not left Detroit at 10 o'clock last night, and that he was waiting for Second Vice President William B. Fitzgerald, who handled the strike of 1915 in this city.

The Board of Estimate meets today in adjourned session to act on Judge Mayer's letter.

MAN ACCUSED OF TRYING TO CUT OFF 'JUICE' HELD.

Edward Feeney, forty-five, giving as his address No. 481 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn, was arrested today while driving a wooden telephone car on the Avenue and Bergen Street. Policeman Balen charged that Feeney was trying to reach a switch box on an iron pole and was receiving encouragement from a crowd to cut off the "juice."

The crowd, "hoed" and jeered Balen as he started off with his prisoner, but some interfered. Detectives returned to the scene when Balen brought his man in an endeavor to urge Feeney to cut off the "juice." The maximum penalty for interfering with railroad property in a manner to endanger life is twenty years in prison.

The increased service on the surface lines was reflected in the falling off of traffic on the 53d and 54th Street crosstown cars, which have served as a barometer of the progress of the strike. Up to today there has been a congestion of traffic on the two lines, but to-day cars frequently left the ferries without a single passenger showing that they were being cared for on their regular lines.

Police reserves were rushed to Third Avenue and 88th Street on the report that strikers were throwing ropes over the trolley wire in an attempt to put the trolley out of business. The crowd saw the reserves coming and scattered in all directions, leaving the trolley untouched.

Two loads of dirt were dumped on the Kingston Avenue tracks, near Carroll Street, to block traffic, but in this case the pickets had their trouble for nothing. Cars on neither of the foregoing lines were operating.

Dominick De Shephard was driving his two-ton truck with ten passengers early this morning in front of a De Kalb Avenue car operated by Motorist Harry Lynch. The bell clang and Patrolman Brown, who was the guard on the front platform, warned the chauffeur. Finally at the crossing of Vanderbilt Street, whether by accident or design, banged his car into the back of the truck.

Policeman Brown jumped forward and served the chauffeur with a summons for violating traffic regulations. One of the passengers hurried the truck upon which he was riding, and at Motorist Lynch, who saved his face and head by stopping the vehicle with his hands. Brown arrested the chauffeur, who gave the name of Isaac Berkman and said that he was a tinsmith living at No. 87 Hart Street. He was held in the Court Avenue Police Court at $100 bail for examination next Wednesday.

Tony Rucceci, a striking B. R. T. guard, was sent to the workhouse for ten days by the Supreme Court by the extraordinary Grand Jury, which has been investigating alleged gambling in this city. Justice Van Kirk immediately directed that bench warrants be issued and set the arraignment for next Tuesday morning. Following the return of the indictments the Grand Jury adjourned until Wednesday morning.

No intimation was given as to the contents of the indictments, but unusual importance was attached to them by court attendants, who said that they were drawn last night in the office of the Attorney General at Albany by William B. Bacons, who has represented the Attorney General during the investigation.

NINE INDICTMENTS IN SARATOGA PROBE
Grand Jury Then Adjourns—Action Regarded as Unusually Important.

SARATOGA SPRING, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Nine sealed indictments were returned today by the Supreme Court by the extraordinary Grand Jury, which has been investigating alleged gambling in this city. Justice Van Kirk immediately directed that bench warrants be issued and set the arraignment for next Tuesday morning. Following the return of the indictments the Grand Jury adjourned until Wednesday morning.

No intimation was given as to the contents of the indictments, but unusual importance was attached to them by court attendants, who said that they were drawn last night in the office of the Attorney General at Albany by William B. Bacons, who has represented the Attorney General during the investigation.

SANFORD T. GLASSING DEAD.
Sanford Thomas Glasling, formerly manager of the Brooklyn Hotel, Manhattan, and the Ten Eyck Hotel in Albany, died yesterday at his home in Flushing, N. Y. He was forty-nine years old. Mr. Glasling was for several years president of the University Club in Manhattan, and until his death was purchasing agent for the West End Hotel at Long Beach. He leaves a widow and two sons.

GARRISON ASSERTS STRIKE VIOLATES UNION'S OWN LAWS

Quotes Constitution to Show B. R. T. Walk-Out Was Not Authorized.

Receiver Garrison of the B. R. T. today called attention to sections in the Constitution and General Laws of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Employes of America which he said had been clearly violated and which caused him and Judge Mayer to doubt that the strike had been ordered with the sanction of the International Executive Committee. The sections from which he quoted are Nos. 112 and 114. Excerpts follow:

"Section 112. . . . When the committee has been unable to secure a settlement of matters in dispute, . . . and the local division believes that the matters in dispute are of such importance that a strike should be ordered, the question of a strike shall be submitted to a secret vote of the entire membership of the local division."

"If necessary to reach the entire membership of the local division the ballot shall be taken by referendum, the ballots being prepared and so distributed to give every member an opportunity to vote. If two-thirds of the membership voting decides in favor of suspending work the local division shall at once notify the International President and the International Executive Committee shall proceed to the scene of the dispute in person or by deputy and in connection with the committee of the local division shall make a thorough investigation and attempt to settle the matter in dispute. In case of failure he shall notify the International Committee and the General Executive Board in writing or telegram and get the consent of the board before ordering the strike."

"Section 114—The local division going on strike without the consent of the board shall forfeit all right to assistance and be subject to expulsion from the association." The International President has not yet arrived on the scene, Mr. Garrison declares; the vote instead of being taken in secret was taken by acclamation; a report could not have been sent to the General Executive Board and approval received in the short time that elapsed between the decision to strike; and the vote, instead of being taken by ballot, was taken by acclamation. He said that 11,000 men in the union, was taken by probably less than 2,000 men who at first voted against a strike but were later influenced to take a new vote after their leaders had harangued them.

BROOKLYN BRIDGE "GASSED"
Explosion of Chlorine Gas at 45 Minutes.

A drum of chlorine gas in the Searcy Warehouse Company at Nos. 36-37-39 Main Street, Brooklyn, exploded this afternoon and sent such dense clouds of smoke across Brooklyn Bridge that traffic was suspended for three-quarters of an hour.

The explosion occurred within fifteen feet of the bridge. Bags of beans, coffee and apples were destroyed. Strains had difficulty in getting into the house.

ACCUSED OF $5,000 THEFT.
Walter Arrested While Trying to Pawn Bracelet.

Charged with grand larceny following his arrest while trying to pawn a jeweled bracelet worth nearly $5,000, Frederick Sills, twenty-seven, waiter, of No. 227 West 113th Street, was held in $2,500 bail to-day in West Side Court.

The bracelet was identified as her property by Clara A. Shapiro, milliner, of No. 270 Broadway. It was stolen from her shop Aug. 31, she said, by a man who also took other jewelry and a purse.

APPROVES INCORPORATION OF 27th DIVISION
Supreme Court Justice McCook today approved the articles of incorporation for the 27th Division Association, composed of veterans who were members of that division during the war.

The object of the organization is to provide for the widows and orphans of members, build a clubhouse and collect data on the division's history.

'FIGHT TO FINISH' HINT OF LEADERS OF B. R. T. STRIKE
Comments of Gov. Smith and Union Representatives on Brooklyn Car Situation.

"NATURALLY, I hope this strike will be settled as soon as possible, but hope and reality are two separate things," Gov. Smith.

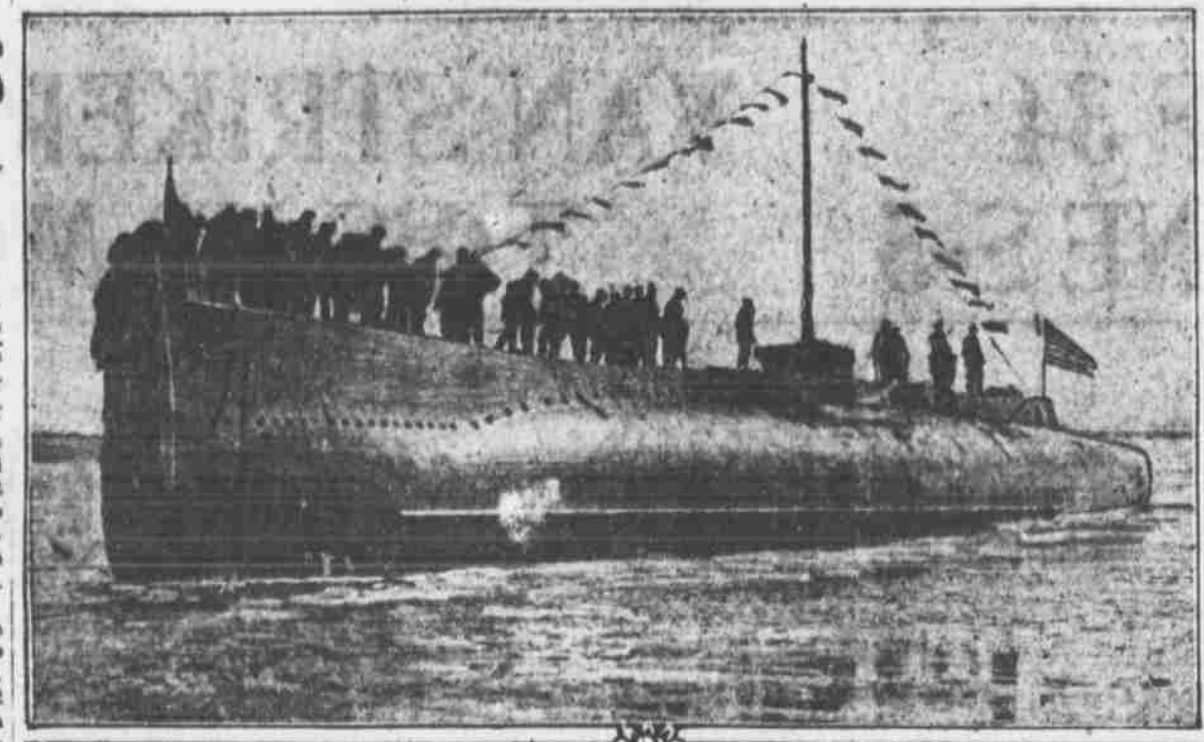

"We are prepared to see the thing through," William D. Mahon, at Detroit, expected today to take charge of the strike.

"I am not the men. I don't decide whether it is a fight to a finish," P. J. Shea, Amalgamated leader.

"We are at least glad that they are out in the open now. It is plain their real plan was to force the strike in order that they might attempt to crush the Amalgamated," Louis Fridger, counsel for the strikers.

"We'll stick and we'll win. We'll never go back until Mayer gives in," Max at a meeting in Brooklyn Labor Lyceum.

MANY MEN BACK, SAYS GARRISON, MORE CARS RUN

Receiver Declares Judge Mayer Will Stand Firmly on His Ultimatum.

Receiver Garrison, asked today if he considered the strike broken, said: "There has been a great improvement in the service, which is evident to any one in the street. I am not making any boasts. We are simply bending all our energies to restoring the service and give the people of Brooklyn the conditions of travel to which they are entitled. Yes, it is true that many of the men are coming back, and that many of them are now in the yards. I cannot give you the number."

"We are operating twenty surface lines and have 400 cars running as we promised we would, and there are 131 elevated and subway trains in operation, comprising 328 cars. We are sending out all the cars that the police can handle."

"How do the terms set down by Judge Mayer appeal to you?" Mr. Garrison was asked.

"Judge Mayer made no terms," he responded. "He told the men to return to work at the 10 per cent. increase which we offered them, all except the men responsible for the strike. He declined to treat with the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Railway Employees. He will not treat with them now nor at any other time."

Asked how much more it was going to cost the company to meet the increase, Mr. Garrison said that he could not go into details. "But," he said, "it cost us $25,000,000 to operate the road last year. The increase will mean about eight per cent. additional, and you can figure the problem out for yourself."

"We resumed service on the Brooklyn Bridge this morning, but were forced to temporarily suspend on account of the congestion of traffic. We will be running again this afternoon."

A high official of the B. R. T. said at the railroad company's headquarters:

"The strike has been broken and the men are flocking back."

Louis Fridger, counsel for the Amalgamated, in the presence of P. J. Shea, said:

"From Judge Mayer's statement it is now apparent to every one that the only real reason for the strike was the desire of Judge Mayer and Judge Garrison to destroy the organization of the employees of the B. R. T."

"I personally have felt all along that the only real issue was uniformity. Judge Mayer's charge that he will not deal with employees who are members of the Amalgamated Association because they violated their contract is absolutely untrue."

"If any agreement has been violated, such violation has been committed by Judge Mayer and Judge Garrison."

TOO WEAK TO PAY ALIMONY BUT IS A BEAR AT BASEBALL

Wife Counters Mott's Plea to Reduce Her Allowance With His Battering Record.

Mrs. Katherine R. Mott of Lynbrook, L. I., applied to Justice Scudder in the Brooklyn Supreme Court today to have her husband, Wilbur C. Mott, a contractor of Lynbrook, punished for contempt of court in failing to pay $15 weekly alimony and $45 counsel fees. She says he left her six years ago and went to California and returned eighteen months ago.

Mott in reply told the court that, owing to his weakened condition, he could not pay over $10 a week.

To this Mrs. Mott says that her husband is playing baseball on the East Rockaway team, one of the fastest in the section. That for a week man he is doing badly in the batting average and practices every day. Decision reserved.

WANAMAKER STORE SUE FOR $14,250
Turned Over as Collateral for Bills Incurred by Wife, Says Ryon.

Frederick L. Ryon of No. 620 Fifth Avenue, Manhattan, brought an action in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn today against John Wanamaker and John Dixon of the Wanamaker store to recover bonds and mortgages valued at $14,250 which he said he had turned over to Dixon without advice of counsel as collateral for bills for $16,252 incurred by Elizabeth Beare Ryon, his wife, from whom he is now separated.

Ryon is the son of Augustus W. Ryon, a wealthy coal dealer of Flushing and President of the Point of Woods Association. He said his first knowledge of his wife's indebtedness came to him Jan. 14 last, two weeks before his separation from her, and that he returned some of the articles purchased, reducing the bill by $1,500.

Young Ryon, who was an ensign in the war, says he supported his wife from April 14, 1919, to their separation with everything suitable to her station in life and had not authorized the purchases she made. He asserts that she contracted other bills beyond the needs of their household amounting to over $6,000, including $1,600 for motor cars, which he also intends to contest. His wife, who was active in Greenwich Village affairs, he says, now in Hollywood, Cal., and he is informed the Wanamaker Company is about to realize on the collateral.

MAYOR HYLAN CABLES PLEA.
Urges Lloyd George to Set Free Macswiney.

Mayor Hylan sent the following cablegram to-day to Premier Lloyd George at Lucerne:

"As Mayor of New York, the largest city of the United States, and speaking for all its citizens, I respectfully urge you not to disgrace our war aims by further imprisonment of Lord Mayor Macswiney of Cork, whose heroic fortitude in representing, even unto death, the opinions of the citizens who elected him, has won the admiration of all who believe in rule of the people by the people."

TILDEN IS VICTOR OVER WESTBROOK IN TENNIS SINGLES

Philadelphia Player Defeats Detroit Opponent 6-3, 8-6, 6-1 at Forest Hills.

Tennis fans by the thousands again crowded themselves in the grandstand of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills this afternoon for the playing of the fifth round of the All-Comers' Championship. Weather conditions were perfect.

In the remaining eight players the East held a slight advantage over the West and from New York.

The opening match in the fifth round brought together William Tilden, who recently captured the world's title in England, and Walter Westbrook of Detroit, who is practically a newcomer to national tournaments. The clash between Bill Johnston, the playing-through champion, and Watson Washburn was the last match to be decided on the feature courts.

Tilden took the first set from Westbrook, 6-4. The Middle-Westerner could do little with Tilden's service and was completely outgeneral.

Westbrook braced in the second set and took his lanky opponent into deuce, but finally succumbed, 8-6.

Tilden took the third set and the match, 6-1.

B. C. Caner, the new Boston sensation, eliminated Irving C. Wright of that city, 4-3, 6-4, 6-2.

KILLED IN SUBWAY; TRAFFIC TIED UP
Man Believed to Be Robert Goetz of Brooklyn on Express Train at Local Station.

A man believed to be Robert Goetz, No. 118 East 23d Street, Brooklyn, was killed by a Lexington Avenue subway express train at the Interborough Astor Place station in the rush hour this morning. A Masonic card bearing that name was found in one of the dead man's pockets.

The police are puzzled to know how the victim happened to be on the express train, for he could not have fallen there from a platform. Astor Place is not an express stop, and the express tracks can be reached only by crossing the local tracks. It is possible the man tried to cross from the uptown to the downtown side of the station. Traffic was suspended for fifteen minutes to extricate the body.

40,000 DISPOSSESS NOTICES HAVE BEEN SERVED ON TENANTS

President of Realty Corporation Says Housing Situation May Lead to a Serious Riot.

Magistrate Douras of the Bronx today issued a summons returnable next Wednesday on Bernard Reman, a landlord living at No. 2573 Decatur Avenue, who owns a two-family house at No. 2471 Webster Avenue, occupied by James Mackesy, his wife and adopted son and eight persons crowded in on the ground floor.

The complainant is Mackesy, who charges that the landlord yesterday sent a plumber to rip out water pipes and fixtures from the bathroom for no other purpose than to discommodate the eleven persons living there. He said he asked the plumber what he was doing, and the workman said he was "following the boss's orders."

There was nothing wrong with the water connections, Mackesy said, and he learned from the plumber that there was no intention to enlarge and improve the fixtures.

Mackesy told the court further that his landlord had inconvenienced his tenants frequently since the Mackesy family carried an eviction case into court and won a stay until November. Among other things, he said, the landlord had removed a large portion of a coating of paint from the roof, and that water pours into the Mackesy apartment when it rains.

The property is in a dilapidated condition, part of the downstairs floor being torn up and the walls have apparently been unrepaired for years. In front of the building directly under the gable roof is a window. The pane is out and the Mackesy family is shifting as best it can with a patchwork of brown paper and a sheet of tin.

Magistrate Douras said in court today that he would hold the landlord in the highest possible bail if the tenant's charge is proved.

District Attorney Martin announced his intention to "make this case an example and at the same time a test case under the new rent laws which make it a misdemeanor for a landlord to fail to furnish water." A misdemeanor, he said, is punishable by from six months to three years in prison.

Robert E. Dowling, President of the Real Estate Board told the committee that the only constructive measure his organization can see is exemption of mortgage interest from income taxes.

Stewart Browne, President of the United Realty Owners' Association, said that there are 40,000 distressed owners outstanding and that the spirit of unrest, owing to the uncertainty of housing conditions, is growing.

"All it needs is a leader," he declared, "and you will have something worse than a riot."

Mr. Browne said he was opposed to the plan of city or State aid for housing, but he knew it was the only course. There is no other way out of the situation, in his judgment.

DAY HOME ROBBED OF $15,000 IN GEMS
Two Employees Missing From New Yorker's Summer Place at Short Hills, N. J.

The police of Short Hills, N. J., today are seeking two missing employees of Joseph P. Day, New York auctioneer, whose summer home there was robbed last night of $15,000 in jewels owned by Mr. Day's mother-in-law, Mrs. Charlotte Pope.

The robbery was not disclosed until Mrs. Pope arose to-day. She kept the jewels in a box in her room. Mr. Day and other members of his family are in New Hampshire. The robbery is believed to have given off in one of Mr. Day's automobiles, which was found abandoned to-day at Park Place, Newark, and to have taken a tube train for Manhattan.
